Andrew D. Rothstein is a Director and co-Chair of the Private Client & Trust Group of Goulston & Storrs PC in Boston Massachusetts. Andy provides clients with a full understanding of legal and tax rules associated with accumulating, managing, and transferring wealth, helping them to develop legal structures and tax strategies to preserve and grow their wealth over time. A significant component of Andy's practice includes advising real estate owners, developers, investors, and managers, as well as public and private company executives, business owners, investment fund managers, and owners of investment portfolios. Andy also counsels fiduciaries in connection with legal requirements related to the administration of trusts and estates. Andy is a Fellow of the American College of Trust and Estate Counsel.
